

How To Complete the BA TESOL in Four Years*

This is a sample schedule. Not all the classes have to go in the semesters they're placed. For example, three of the foundations classes (SSE 350, LIN 344 and CEF 447) can be taken in any semester as long as you've matriculated into the TESOL program. Linguistics electives are offered every semester and in summer and winter as well.

What you must pay attention to are prerequisites:

1. The methods classes: LIN 375 is only offered in fall and must be taken before LIN 378.
2. Linguistics classes: LIN 101 is prerequisite for LIN 201 and 311. LIN 201 is a prerequisite for LIN 301. LIN 101, 201, 301 and 311 must ALL be taken before LIN 431.
3. All classes have to be completed before student teaching.

Sophomore Year Fall	Sophomore Year Spring
LIN 101 Introduction to Human Language	LIN 201 Phonetics
Language (this course is in addition to SB curriculum requirements)	Language (this course is in addition to SB curriculum requirements)
	LIN elective (either upper or lower division)
	Apply to BA TESOL program. You must have completed LIN 101 and either LIN 201 or 311 to be accepted.
Junior Year Fall	Junior Year Spring
LIN 375 (Methods I) and LIN 445 Field Experience. Offered only in the fall. This class is a prerequisite for LIN 378.	LIN 378 (Methods II) and LIN 449 Field Experience. Offered only in the spring.
LIN 307 (required course offered in fall, not spring. It is usually also offered in summer.)	LIN 311 Syntax
LIN 301 Phonology	PSY 327 (this course is offered only in spring, not fall.)
SSE 350 Foundations of Education	LIN 344 Literacy Development
	LIN elective (upper division)
	Don't forget to sign up for required workshops and exams.
Senior Year Fall	Senior Year Spring
LIN 431 Structure of an Uncommonly Taught Language	LIN 454, 451, 452 Student Teaching All of your requirements must be finished by this semester.
LIN 405 Writing in Linguistics (also offered in summer)
LIN elective (upper division)
CEF 347 Introduction to Special Education

* This schedule was written in May 2021.