 - ❖ Feedback from students:
 - Students expressed their concerns about the long lines at Dunkin' Express. We need more student employees so if committee members can spread the word about these positions that would be greatly appreciated.
 - The Farmers Fridge at Tabler is not accepting dining dollars. The machine is having an issue with university ID cards.
 - A student ambassador enjoyed the arroz chaufa served at East Side Dining as part of the “Cooking from Home” program.
 - Savor at Roth, the rice should go first so the line can go more smoothly. Guests should pay after their meal is made.
 - At Savor, the cilantro should be removed from the cucumber salad since it is already a topping.
 - At Savor, most students liked the sauce and the protein options for next week's Korean BBQ.
 - Students say that at Jasmine the lines for the Korean and Japanese stations get mixed up and are confusing.

- The hibachi grill is not in Nutrislice and students would like it to be there so they can check when the hibachi grill is available. The information has been updated based on the cycle of the week and it is now on Nutrislice.
 - Students at East Side Dining would like vanilla ice cream all the time. We offer vanilla every other week. Strawberry and vanilla are available at East Side Dining this week.
 - Students complain that iced tea runs out at Roth.
 - Students suggested adding a market at Roth, similar to the Emporium Market at East Side.
 - Students are excited about the Korean BBQ next week at Roth. The students would like something more stable, however, we are offering different cuisines every week to give variety to students.
 - SV ambassadors suggested editing the survey form. For example, taking out the date to make the process simpler. In relation to the last two questions in the survey, one is related to dining quality and the last question is about the space.
 - The woman cashier by traditions at SAC food court is really helpful and nice.
- ❖ Upcoming activities: ask for more information
 - Every Monday of this month, East and West Side dining will offer food items in honor of Native American Heritage Month for dinner.
 - National Nacho Day on Monday November 6. Nachos will be offered at East and West Side Dining.
 - Superfood sampling at West Side Dining Tuesday November 7 from 11:30am to 1:30pm.
 - The winners of the chili competition will serve their chili on Tuesday night at East side dining at 5pm.
 - ❖ The student supply bag will be available in the manager's office at SAC on Monday morning.
 - ❖ There was a miscommunication about today's meeting. The location of the meetings will always be available in the minutes of the last meeting.
 - ❖ We will have a meeting the Friday before Thanksgiving, November 17.
 - ❖ A flyer with information about upcoming events will be given to the SV ambassadors so they can display it when tabling.
 - ❖ A document of action items that SBU EATS is working on will be sent to SV ambassadors. We are open to suggestions.
 - ❖ All student ambassadors will have a QR code that will ask students about their recommendations for the Starbucks location at East Side Dining.

- ❖ We are working on the kosher variety. We have added a designated kosher dairy microwave, pancakes and waffles. We are working to add more items to our locations.
- ❖ We are working on expanding the menus of the Halal NY and Wicked Wingz. The expanded items are available at the menu station.
- ❖ Not a lot of students have eaten at the food trucks on the East Side this week. There will be a survey about it to find out more information on how to improve.
- ❖ We have a calendar of the food trucks schedules. We are looking for suggestions of where to promote this information. A suggestion is to post on Instagram or create a QR code for the SV ambassador tables. Maybe have a Monday post of the weekly schedule; however, the schedule usually changes multiple times throughout the week.
- ❖ Our next meeting will be Thursday, November 9 at SAC (exact location will be confirmed soon) at 3PM.
